Gardening Through the Continuum of Life

Gardening - The passion for all ages

In 2008 join the SouthEast Wisconsin Master Gardeners July 16th through the 19th for an exciting look at gardening through all ages and phases of life.

The conference will be based at the Four Points by Sheraton Milwaukee Airport Hotel and Convention Center, located across from Milwaukee General Mitchell International Airport, allowing for easy access from anywhere.

Tours

Begin your conference weekend by choosing one of six fantastic motor coach tours to private gardens in the area. Among the twenty plus gardens featured in the tours: shade gardens and gardens housing native plants, one highlighting antique outhouses and one garden designed especially for visitors in wheelchairs, others with unique combinations of vegetables and perennials as well as a tremendous variety of woody plants, the “rosarium” of a renowned rose hybridizer, plus many, many more. All tours include lunch in the air-conditioned comfort of a local restaurant and fabulous shopping opportunities at a fine garden center. A day of garden tours will be the perfect introduction to “Gardening Through the Continuum of Life.” Garden tours will be offered on Thursday, July 17th.

Speakers

Michael Weishan

Keynotes by Michael Weishan of the Victory Garden, Melinda Myers of Great Lakes Gardener, Edward Lyon, Executive Director of Janesville Rotary Gardens, and Gene Rothert, enabling garden author, educator and manager of Chicago Botanical Garden's Buehler Enabling Garden & Horticulture Therapy Services, are just a start.
